My dear Mr. Anentaraman.

Will you please see the enclosed papers (numbered pages 19 to 27) containing correspondence with Mr. Babington of "The Daily Post".

Although my letter to Mr. Babington at page 26 of the papers represents all that we are prepared to say to him officially as from the Residency, Colonel Plowden feels that it might be desirable to bring the articles in "The Evening Mail" to your notice unofficially, in the hope that you might be able to give a hint to the Editor to moderate his language a bit. Scurrilous abuse of this kind can only give rise to ill-feeling; and if you can see your way to convey a hint to the Editor that he would be well advised to be more temperate in his criticism, this action would be greatly appreciated.

My dear Ramanathan,

Date 20.8.35

I am desirous to invite your reference to the leading articles in the "Evening Mail" of 23rd and 25th July 1935, under the headings "Contemptible Journalism" and "The Anglo-Indians and Retrocession."

These articles indulge in scurrilous abuse of the ~~"Daily Post"~~, which seem to transgress all ~~the~~ limits of journalistic propriety and can only give rise to ill-feeling. I am to request you to kindly send for the Editor of the Evening Mail and warn him to be more temperate in his criticism.

Yours sincerely,

A.V. Ramanathan, Esq., B.A.,
District Magistrate, Bangalore District.

Mag. K. x

In reply to your confidential D.O. letter No. 370/C.B. 14-35-10 dated the 20th August 1935, I beg to state that I sent for the Editor of the Evening Mail this day and pointed out to him the objectionable and scurrilous language of the two articles and warned him to be more temperate in his criticism. He has promised to avoid such scurrilous language and be more temperate in future.

Yours sincerely,

Anantaraman
